D.PHD.3 - Monitoring and improvement of activities

D.PHD.3.1: Monitoring of processes and results related to research, teaching and third mission/social impact activities, considering also survey and analysis of opinions
Briefly explain and comment on the following aspects: Analysis of educational and research background (including periods of research abroad, participation in conferences, quality and quantity of scientific production) Analysis of questionnaires (strengths and weaknesses) Analysis of PhD questionnaires one year after graduation
Students belonging to cycles 38 to 39 are to be considered in the assessment for the year 2023 of the Doctoral Program in Earth and Planetary Sciences. In cycle 38 (first year in 2023) there are 8 students in the standard program and 5 in the PNRR program, for a total of 13 students. Concerning the 39 cycle (beginning in November 2023), there are 10 students, of which 2 PNRR M.D. 118/2023 and 3 PNRR NGEU. Annual evaluation forms are not available for these students, Reports are available for the 38-cycle students. (https://www.daf.unifi.it/upload/sub/PianificazioneDipartimenti/2024/DashboardDottoratiAnvur/Dashboard%20Anvur%20-%20Earth.pdf) The opinions of the students collected through the questionnaires prepared by the University (cycle 38) are not available. Therefore, the analysis was conducted using only the annual reports of the students. The analysis of the students' reports allowed to delineate the achievement of educational activities at the University of affiliation (Firenze), educational activities at other universities or national and international research institutions, achievement of soft skills, research activities abroad, articles and presentations at national and international conferences. For the evaluation of PhD students, the academic board normally meets annually to review the progress of the students at the end of the academic year. The student is then evaluated taking into consideration the reports of the Tutors and through the presentation of activities for a collegial evaluation that is recorded in the report of the academic board. https://drive.google.com/drive/folders/1UO3T0L7MSRBYtyfXIGc9e8rhkTAaVhIC?usp=drive_link
D.PHD.3.2: Monitoring the allocation and utilization of research funds
Briefly explain and comment on the following aspects: Allocation and methods of utilization of funds for the training and research activities of doctoral students made available by the University and/or the Department with the support of the administration of the Expenditure Center on which the doctoral program relies
An analysis of the records of students who completed year 1 in 2023 (8+5 PNRR) shows that on average they gained 9 CFUs (FI) and 11 additional CFUs (other institutions), and an average of 4 CFUs of soft skills. Concerning the scientific production, students produced an average of 2 abstracts and 0.4 articles in international journals. On average, first-year students' stay abroad is around 10 days. Funds were used for training and research activities through the financing of missions on Italian and foreign soil, as well as to bear the cost of publications. Regarding the training and research periods in Italy and abroad, which amounted to a total of 159 days (of which 99 abroad and 60 in Italy), the used resources amounted to a total of 6266 Euro (of which 3451 for periods abroad and 2815 for periods in Italy).

D.PHD.3.3: Periodic review and update of training and research pathways

Explain and comment briefly on the following aspects:

Alignment with cultural and scientific developments

International comparison, suggestions from stakeholders (internal and external) and doctoral students' opinions and suggestions for improvement

Report here the main elements that emerged from the stakeholder consultation conducted by the Doctoral Advisory Board and discuss them in order to identify areas for improvement. If there are minutes of the Teachers' College, where the discussion has already taken place, you can attach them without duplicating their contents.

No formal consultations were conducted for the year 2023. However, during the presentations of the PhD students' work to the academic board, colleagues from various institutions interested in the research topics developed during the students' studies were invited. Colleagues not pertaining to the academic board expressed their appreciation and highlighted the high scientific value of the candidates' research, sometimes making specific suggestions on further development of research activities. During the periods abroad, the doctoral students gained both research experience and the opportunity to present their work in an international context that consequently contributed to their scientific growth.

Commentary on the indicators

Reports with the values and trends of the AVA-ANVUR PhD indicators (listed below) are published annually on the appropriate page of the University Datawarehouse.

Indicator	Riferimento/ tipologia	AdC di riferimento
Percentage of first-year enrolled in doctoral programs who received their admission degree at another university	DM 1154/2021 40.00%	D.PHD.1.6 2023
Percentage of PhDs who have spent at least three months abroad*	DM 1154/2021 not available	D.PHD.2.6
Percentage of grants funded by external entities.	AVA 3 - ANVUR 70.00%	D.PHD.3.2 2023
Percentage of Ph.D.s who spent at least six months of their training in public or private institutions other than the location of the Ph.D. programs (includes months spent abroad)	AVA 3 - ANVUR not available	D.PHD.2.6
Ratio of the number of research products generated by PhDs in the last three completed cycles to the number of PhDs in the last three completed cycles	AVA 3 - ANVUR not available	D.PHD.2.7
Presence of a system for surveying the opinions of doctoral students	AVA 3 - ANVUR not available	D.PHD.3.1
Presence of a system for surveying the employment status of PhDs	AVA 3 - ANVUR not available	D.PHD.3.1
Use of student opinions in the reformulation/update of the organization of the Ph.D. Program	AVA 3 - ANVUR not available	D.PHD.3.3

Comment on indicators
Comment briefly on the values collected for each of the indicators in the AVA-ANVUR set, identifying strengths and weaknesses. If the Course has additional indicators, define and comment on them
Concerning the indicators, only H00A (40%) and H00C (70%) indicators were available at the time of compiling, both of which show values in line with the national (37% and 72%) and macro-regional (42% and 75%) ones. This highlights that the PhD course is interesting for students who have obtained their admission qualification in another university, and it also points to the fact that a great percentage of scholarships are financed by external institutions.

D.PHD.3 - Monitoring and improvement of activities

D.PHD.3.1: Monitoring of processes and results related to research, teaching and third mission/social impact activities, considering also survey and analysis of opinions

Briefly explain and comment on the following aspects:

Analysis of educational and research background (including periods of research abroad, participation in conferences, quality and quantity of scientific production)

Analysis of questionnaires (strengths and weaknesses)

Analysis of PhD questionnaires one year after graduation

Students belonging to cycles 36 to 40 are to be considered in the assessment for the year 2024 of the Doctoral Program in Earth and Planetary Sciences.

Students in cycle 36 are under discussion in 2024 and report to PISA.

Students in cycle 37, who are in the 3 year, are afferent to a different doctoral program, and are not considered in this assessment.

For the 38 cycle (second year in 2024) there are 8 students in the standard program and 5 in the PNRR program, for a total of 13 students.

For the 39 cycle (first year in 2024), there are 10 students, of which 2 PNRR M.D. 118/2023 and 3 PNRR NGEU.

In 2024, the 40-cycle students (10 in total), just matriculated, only made the kick-off presentation. Of these 10, 3 are topic-specific captive grants (one funded by INGV, one advertised in the Department Excellence Project, and one on Project funds). Annual evaluation forms are not available for these students,

Reports are available for the 38- and 39-cycle students.

The opinions of the students collected through the questionnaires prepared by the University (cycle 38 and 39) are not available. Therefore, the analysis was conducted using only the annual reports of the students.

The analysis of the students' reports allowed delineating the achievement of educational activities at the University of affiliation (Firenze), educational activities at other universities or national and international research institutions, achievement of soft skills, research activities abroad, articles and presentations at national and international conferences.

An analysis of the records of students who completed the 1 year in 2024 (10; 39 cycle) shows that on average they earned 5.3 internal CFUs and 11.2 additional CFUs, as well as an average of 3.2 CFUs of soft skills. The productive activity for the first year results in 0.9 abstracts and 0.1 articles.

A total analysis of the records of students who completed the 2-year in 2024 (38 cycle) shows that on average they earned 5.7 domestic CFUs and 14.6 additional CFUs, an average of 8.1 CFUs of soft skills, and we produced 2.7 abstracts and 1.1 articles. The average stay abroad for second-year students is 83.2 days. The averages for 38-cycle students show a slight decrease in credits acquired for educational activities provided by the home university compared to the previous year (9 CFU in 2023) to the benefit of an increase in educational credits earned at other universities or abroad and soft skills credits. There is also evidence of an increase in productive activity compared to Year I both in terms of publications in scientific journals and presentations at conferences.

For the evaluation of doctoral students, the College normally meets annually to review the progress of doctoral students at the end of the academic year. The doctoral student is then evaluated taking into account the reports of the Tutors and through the presentation of activities for a collegial evaluation that is recorded in the minutes of the doctoral college.

D.PHD.3.2: Monitoring the allocation and utilization of research funds

Briefly explain and comment on the following aspects:

Allocation and methods of utilization of funds for the training and research activities of doctoral students made available by the University and/or the Department with the support of the administration of the Expenditure Center on which the doctoral program relies

Ph.D. students used funds for educational and research activities through the funding of Italian and foreign missions and through the cost of publications.

On average, the stay abroad for second-year students was 83.2 days, while for first-year students it was 16.3 days. For the training and research periods in Italy and abroad, which corresponded to 1487 days (of which 1400 were abroad and 87 in Italy), the total resources amounted to 60311.53 € (of which 53874.59 € for periods, congresses and conferences abroad and 6436.94 € for periods, congresses and conferences in Italy).

D.PHD.3.3: Periodic review and update of training and research pathways

Explain and comment briefly on the following aspects:

Alignment with cultural and scientific developments

International comparison, suggestions from stakeholders (internal and external) and doctoral students' opinions and suggestions for improvement

Report here the main elements that emerged from the stakeholder consultation conducted by the Doctoral Advisory Board and discuss them in order to identify areas for improvement. If there are minutes of the Teachers' College, where the discussion has already taken place, you can attach them without duplicating their contents.

During the periods abroad, doctoral students had both research experience and the opportunity to present their work in an international context, which consequently contributed to their scientific growth.

In 2024, the stakeholder committee, called the Advisory Board, was formally established, i.e., an advisory body to discuss the alignment of the doctoral program with the country's cultural and scientific evolution, to gather suggestions from stakeholders, and to have an international discussion on proposals for the improvement of the doctoral program. As a criterion adopted for the selection of public and private research stakeholders, it was decided that the Advisory Board would consist of members belonging to National Public Research Institutions (EPRs), European Research Institutions, geo-resource research companies, and private nonprofit scientific associations belonging to the networks of the Italian Geological Society, the Italian Astrophysical Society, and the Italian Planetary Sciences Society, having roles and objectives in line with the definition of "stakeholders" for the Doctorate in Earth and Planetary Sciences. This criterion was established to limit the number of participants on the Advisory Board, but at the same time to broadly represent all disciplines of the Geosciences associated in a network of recognized nonprofit associations (i.e., ETS).

Among EPR, the following were selected:: Agenzia nazionale per le nuove tecnologie, l'energia e lo sviluppo economico sostenibile (ENEA), Agenzia Spaziale Italiana (ASI), Consiglio Nazionale delle Ricerche (CNR), Istituto Nazionale di Astrofisica (INAF), Istituto Nazionale di Geofisica e Vulcanologia (INGV), Istituto Nazionale di Oceanografia e di Geofisica Sperimentale (OGS), Istituto Superiore per la Protezione dell'Ambiente (ISPRA) e Servizio Geologico d'Italia dell'ISPRA (SGdI).

Among European Research Institutions: European Science Foundation (ESF), International Continental Drilling Program (ICDP), International Ocean Discovery Program (IODP).

Among the principal national enterprises in the georesources field: ENI SpA.

Among the nonprofit scientific associations: Società Italiana di Astrofisica (SIA), Società Italiana di Scienze Planetarie (SISP), Società Geologica Italiana (SGI) e le sue associate Società Italiana di Mineralogia e Petrologia (SIMP), Associazione Italiana di Geomorfologia (AIGeo), Associazione Italiana del Quaternario (AIQua), Associazione Italiana di Vulcanologia (AIV), Associazione Paleontologica Paleoartistica Italiana (APPI), Società Geochemica Italiana (SoGeI) e Società Paleontologica Italiana (SPI). Tra gli Enti finanziatori: CNR – Istituto di Geoscienze e Georisorse (CNR-IGG); CNR – Istituto Rilevamento Elettromagnetico per l'Ambiente (IREA), INGV – Sezione di Pisa (INGV-PI), ETT SpA.

The members identified are:

- Prof. Mauro Soldati (AIGeo)
- Prof. Raffaele Sardella (AIQua)
- Prof. Guido Giordano (AIV)
- Dr. Anna Giamborino (APPI)
- Dr. Francesco Petracchini (CNR)
- Dr. Giancarlo Davoli (ENI SpA)
- Dr. Alice Stephant (ESF)
- Dr. Francesca Altieri (INAF)
- Prof. Elisabetta Erba (IODP/ICDP)
- Dr. Marco Pantaloni (ISPRA)
- Prof. Nicola Casagli (OGS)
- Dr. Chiara D'Ambrogi (SGdI)
- Dr. Irene Cornacchia (SGI)
- Prof. Paolo Mazzoleni (SIMP)
- Dr. Barbara Nisi (SoGeI)
- Prof. Barbara Cavalazzi (SPI)

ENEA, INGV, SIA and SISPL have not identified their representatives on the Doctoral Advisory Board to date, and will be integrated later.

In order to improve the monitoring of student activities, an internal questionnaire will be drafted effective from the year 2025. In addition, to facilitate the compilation of the annual report and ensure effective quality assessment, the following action steps will be taken:

- 1) the template for the annual report will be standardized, supplementing it with a summary table containing all the information needed to compile the annual quality report;
- 2) a Google Form will be created so that students can directly upload online the information included in the table introduced at the end of the report. This document will contain a gentle reminder to complete the survey sent by the university (draft currently under development);
- 3) a Google Drive folder (to be accessed only by members of the secretariat and the review committee) will be created for each doctoral year containing a folder for each student, in which students should upload all relevant certificates and documents necessary for the evaluation of the quality of the doctoral program.

Commentary on the indicators

Reports with the values and trends of the AVA-ANVUR PhD indicators (listed below) are published annually on the appropriate page of the University Datawarehouse.

The University has not yet made available updated data to 2024.

To the members of the academic board of the PhD course on Earth and Planetary Sciences,

Dear all,

I kindly inform you, on behalf of the coordinator, that the Academic Board should approve the reports on the activities carried out by this PhD course in the years 2023 and 2024.

So please consider that a meeting by email, is convened from today, 26th February 2025, at 14,00 until tomorrow, 27th February 2025, at 14,00 (Italian time), in order to approve (or not approve) the following point at the agenda:

1. AVA3 - Quality Self-Evaluation of the PhD Course in Earth and Planetary Sciences - approval of the first annual reports for 2023 and 2024.

Please find attached the reports edited by the two Review committees appointed for the 2023 assessment and for the 2024 assessment.

Please answer this message: I approve (or I do not approve).

To the members of the academic board of the PhD course on Earth and Planetary Sciences,

Dear all,

I kindly inform you, on behalf of the coordinator, that the Academic Board should approve the reports on the activities carried out by this PhD course in the years 2023 and 2024.

So please consider that a meeting by email, is convened from today, 26th February 2025, at 14,00 until tomorrow, 27th February 2025, at 14,00 (Italian time), in order to approve (or not approve) the following point at the agenda:

1. AVA3 - Quality Self-Evaluation of the PhD Course in Earth and Planetary Sciences - approval of the first annual reports for 2023 and 2024.

Please find attached the reports edited by the two Review committees appointed for the 2023 assessment and for the 2024 assessment.

Please answer this message: I approve (or I do not approve).

Prot. n. 45267/2025

To the members of the academic board of the PhD course on Earth and Planetary Sciences,

Dear all,

I kindly inform you, on behalf of the coordinator, that the Academic Board should approve the reports on the activities carried out by this PhD course in the years 2023 and 2024.

So please consider that a meeting by email, is convened from today, 26th February 2025, at 14,00 until tomorrow, 27th February 2025, at 14,00 (Italian time), in order to approve (or not approve) the following point at the agenda:

1. AVA3 - Quality Self-Evaluation of the PhD Course in Earth and Planetary Sciences - approval of the first annual reports for 2023 and 2024.

Please find attached the reports edited by the two Review committees appointed for the 2023 assessment and for the 2024 assessment.

Please answer this message: I approve (or I do not approve).

Best regards,
Serena Cartei
